Fifty Acres of Pima Cotton On Sund Ranch Is Making An Excellent Growth

Through the courtesy of M. M. Riley, the editor of the Age had the opportunity to see the cotton growing under the Sund well, west of Vegas and found it looking fine. The young plants are about two inches high on the average and appear to be enjoying this climate. The growth seems healthy and vigorous over the entire 50 acre tract.

Planting of Pima is under way at the Winterwood ranch, east of town. Upon completing the planting of 50 acres of Pima there the remainder of the 125 acres of ground already prepared on the Sund tract will be planted to Durango, and enough additional of the Winterwood ranch will be planted to Durango to bring the total acreage of the Las Vegas Land Cotton Company, C. S. Sprague and Munro Brown, to 320 acres.
